Cargill conducts voluntary recall of Nutrena® Country Feeds® Meatbird 22% Crumble due to non-inclusion of Vitamin D

MINNEAPOLIS (April 13, 2024) — Cargill’s animal nutrition business is conducting a voluntary recall of Nutrena® Country Feeds® Meat bird 22% Crumble (RV) due to non-inclusion of Vitamin D. Lack of Vitamin D in meat bird diets can lead to mineral deficiencies and bone issues, including rickets in growing birds. Symptoms include lameness and rubbery bones.

The affected products were manufactured and sold in the eastern United States and are being recalled from retail outlets in the Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia markets.

The lot code and manufacture date can be found on the bottom right-hand side of the label.

Product	Size	Lot Code	Product Code	Species	Manufacture dates	Shelf Life (Days)	Product Picture
Nutrena® Country Feeds® Meatbird 22% Crumble (RV)	50 lb. bag	All lots	95188	Meat birds (Broilers, Turkeys, Ducks, Geese and Pheasants)	July 2022- March 2024	120

Cargill discovered the issue after receiving a single report of young meat birds diagnosed with rickets. Cargill immediately investigated and discovered the non-inclusion of Vitamin D.

Consumers and other end users who have any of the affected lots in their possession should return remaining product to their local dealer or retailer for a replacement or full refund. For more information, call 800-441-2699 (Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Eastern Time).

At Cargill, the safety of our products and the well-being of the animals we feed is our top priority. This recall is being conducted with the knowledge of and in cooperation with the United States Food and Drug Administration.
